

CONTENTS

Map of Catskill Park	x
Geographical Index to the Stories	xii
The 35 Catskill Mountain Peaks over 3,500 feet	xiii
Foreword by William J. Rudge	xiv
Acknowledgments	xvi
Introduction	1
Forever Wild, the Catskill Forest Preserve	2
The Birth of a Hiking Club: The Catskill 3500 Club	4
3500 Club Charter Members	12
PART I: MARATHON HIKES	13
<hr/>
1. Devil's Path End-to-End, by Tim Stone	14
Twenty-Eight Miles up Six Peaks
2. Cave Dog in the Catskill High Peaks, by Ralph Ryndak	18
Hiking by Night with Record-Breaking Mountaineer
3. Backpacking across the Long Six, by Bleecker Staats	23
A Place Like No Other
4. The Last of the Winter 35ers, by Daniel D. Chazin	27
Seventeen Hours over Eight Mountains
5. The Escarpment Trail: A Journey, by Michael J. Molinski	33
Why Do I Do This?
6. The Escarpment Trail End-to-End, by Kathleen Balthazar Heitzmann	38
A Challenging Backpack
PART II: MISADVENTURES	40
<hr/>
7. Hung up on a Cliff, by Ann Clapper	41
The Rappel Was Longer Than the Rope
8. A Real Cliff-Hanger, by Steve Boheim	43
Hanging by a Thread from Giant Ledge
9. A Heart Attack in the Catskills, by Bleecker Staats	45
Good Health Is a Precious Thing
10. Not Just Another Day in the Woods, by John Swanson	48
Broken Bone on Panther Mountain in Winter
11. Not in My Backyard, by Laurie Moore Rankin	51
Adventures in a 300,000-Acre Backyard

12. Break on Big Indian Mountain, by Bleecker Staats	56
Broken Leg on a Remote Bushwhack
13. Catskill Adventures and Misadventures, by Ken Metzner	58
Lessons from a Solo Hiker
14. Dutchman’s Path, by Robert L. Gram	63
The Mountains and the Mind
15. Don’t Go beyond Your Limits,
from Cy Whitney, as reported to Carol White	69
No Connection between Age and Strength
16. The Hike from Hell, by Evelyn Drapkin	71
Heavenly in Memory Only
PART III: WILDLIFE ENCOUNTERS	74
<hr/>
17. Bear Slide! by Anthony Versandi	75
Four Hundred Pounds of Fur Having Fun
18. Two Bears, by Rev. Ray L. Donahue	76
Bears in the Catskills
19. Black Bear Tales, by Mark Schaefer	77
How to Encounter a Bear in the Wild
20. Encounters with Wildlife, by Elie Bijou	80
Bear Encounter
21. This Hike Was for the Birds—Literally! by Tom Rankin	82
In Search of the Rare Bicknell’s Thrush
22. Porcupine Shows Exotic Tastes, by Richard Levine	84
These Guys Eat Everything
23. Three Dog Day, by Steve Herrmann	85
Dogs on Gorp and Power Bars
24. Encounter on Sherrill Mountain, by Hilma Volk	87
Tracks, Clawings, Scat—Mama and Cubs
25. The Three Porcupines, by William B. Lawson	89
The Lowly Porky in His Element
PART IV: WILD WEATHER	91
<hr/>
26. A Wild Adventure in the Neversink, by Dean MacGeorge	92
Scouting for Adventure
27. My First Hike in the Catskills, by Walter L. Gregory	95
A Twenty-Degree Gale on the Burroughs Range on Memorial Day
28. My First Snowshoe Adventure, by Craig Mitchell	98
Rookie’s Christmas on the Burroughs Range
29. Weatherwise or Otherwise? by Bleecker Staats	101
You Never Know What Will Happen on a Catskills Backpack

30. Drenched on Doubletop, by Walter L. Gregory	104
From Calm Streams to Raging Torrents
31. Storm Hiking, by Dean MacGeorge	105
Mother Nature Puts on a Show
32. Something Happened in the Mountains, by Rev. Ray L. Donahue	107
A New 2,300-Foot Slide Route to Friday Mountain
33. Blackhead from the Jones Farm, by Franklin B. Clark	109
The Coldest Half Hour of My Life
PART V: WINTER ADVENTURING	110
<hr/>
34. Engulfed by Nature, by Manuel A. Peraza	111
The Outer and Inner Journey
35. Rookie Cramponing, by Dean MacGeorge	115
Four Mistakes
36. The Boys Enjoyed a Cold One, by Joe Herrod	117
Sub-Zero Snow Devils and Survival
37. Mountain Odyssey, by Betty Heald	120
From “Down the Tubes by Forty” to Winter 111 First
38. The Ice Mites, by Larry Allen and Kevin Wagner	122
New Experiences in Every Hike
39. Winter Hike, by Joan Dean	125
Rhapsody in White
40. A Winter Slide Climb, by Edward Ripley-Duggan	127
Slide Climb and Dangerous Descent
41. How I Succumbed to Peak Baggers’ Disease, by Darielle Graham	129
Feeding the Hiking Fever with Snow-Covered Peaks
42. A Catskills Winter Marathon, by Darielle Graham	131
On a Roll—Until Mountains Take Their Toll
43. Night Falls Early, by Susan Lehrer	135
Peak Bagging Perils
44. Postholing the Big Cats, by Joe Herrod	138
Best Laid Plans
45. The Optimist and the Pessimist Hiking the Winter 35,     by David and Carol White	141
“How Much Trouble Can We Have?”
46. My Last Winter Peak and the Day After, by Jerry Licht	148
The Escarpment in Winter
47. Snowshoe Goddesses in the Catskills, by Katherine Mario	151
From Horned Headdresses and Bells to Lightweight Snowshoes and Fleece
48. First Winter Catskill Hike, by Raymond Pride	153
Wondrous New Opportunities in These Mountains

49. A Nice Hike Becomes an Ice Hike, by George Preoteasa	154
Fun and Fear
50. Walt Gregory's Crampons, by Bill W. Collier	156
Solo Bushwhacking: A Metaphor
51. The Day I Used It All, by Marty Cohen	159
Lots of Lightweight Equipment Weighs a Ton
52. First Day of the Third Millennium, by Constantine (Dean) Gletsos	161
A Winter Ramble
53. First Hike, by Kathleen Balthazar Heitzmann	164
Hiking from Spring into Winter
PART VI: LOST IN THE WILDERNESS	165
<hr/>
54. When the Chips Are Down, by Ken Krabbenhoft	166
The Paradox of Misadventure
55. Lessons Learned in the Wild, by John Lounsbury	170
Hard-Won Wilderness Wisdom
56. Lost on Windham High Peak, by Robert Quinn	174
Two Nights in the Wilderness
57. My First Compass Hike, by Anne Bartash	176
Setting a Compass Course and Putting It in Your Pocket
58. Fir to Doubletop, by Robert Silver	178
Lost on a Solo Bushwhack
59. Lost, by Will Nixon	181
The Gordian Knot
60. Last Peak: A Memorable Experience, by Tom Farre	188
Lost in the Neversink
61. A Lesson in Orienteering, by Kathleen Balthazar Heitzmann	190
The Nervous One and the Brave One
62. Climbing Lone Twice, by Marty Cohen	192
A Stubborn Compass and a Stubborn Hiker
PART VII: NAVIGATING IN THE WILDERNESS	194
<hr/>
63. The Hard Way to Peekamoose Mountain, by Bob "Grey Dog" McElroy	195
The Forest Primeval
64. The Mountains Beckon, by James D. Malumphy	202
The Rewards of Bushwhacking
65. In Praise of Trailless Mountains, by Bob McElroy	205
The Trailless Forest is a Magnet
66. My First Solo Bushwhack, by Tom Farre	207
The Type-A Hiker

67. A Civilized Wilderness Experience, by Nancy Wolff	211
Light Notes about a Heavy Bushwhack
68. Catskill Mountain Highs, by Edward Ripley-Duggan	214
Steep Pleasures
69. A Solo Winter Bushwhack, by Andrew M. Moroz	218
Bearings and Bears
70. When a Trail Hike Becomes a Bushwhack, by Ted Shemella	223
Off the Beaten Track
71. Hiking Pole in a Haystack, by Bill Drapkin	227
GPS Game
72. Searching for Spencer's Ledge, by Peter Ford	229
Elusive Beauty
73. Maintaining the Canisters on the Trailless Peaks, by Scott Lane	231
Map, Compass, and Experience Will Not Always Get the Summit
74. Bushwhacking with Black Flies, by David M. Galvin	234
Conditions Requiring Humor
PART VIII: REMINISCENCES	236
<hr/>
75. The Good Old Days, by Henry L. Young	237
Catskill Accommodations in 1922
76. A Yankee in the Catskills, by A. T. Shorey	239
Catskill Hospitality: Exploring in the Old Days
77. Remembrance of Things Past, by Walter L. Gregory	243
Reservoir of Good Memories
78. Catskill Memories, by Fred H. Schroeder	244
A Love Affair with the Catskills
79. The First of Many Catskill Hikes, by Lenny Stark	246
A Piece of Cake?
80. Return to Slide Mountain, by John L. Slechta	248
Passing on the Memories
81. Heliography on Thomas Cole, by Edward G. West	250
An Ingenious Experiment
82. Following in My Father's Footsteps, by Richard Levine	252
Hike into the Past
83. Number Twenty-Six, by Benjamin Sadock	253
Where Slide Mountain Got Its Name
84. The Secret to Staying Young, by Ann L. Clapper	255
Eighty-Three and Not Showing Age

85. Take Time to Smell the Flowers, by Ann L. Clapper	258
Exploring Kaaterskill High Peak

---

PART IX: CATSKILL MOUNTAIN HIGHS 260

86. Frank's Story, by Dr. Susan L. Poretz	261
Hooked on Hiking at Age Seventy-Three
87. The Catskills: A New Englander's Perspective, by Bob Parlee	264
A Catskills Convert
88. The Katskill Kid, by Robert A. Forrest	266
A Mountain Junkie Is Hooked on the Catskills
89. Autumn in the Catskills, by Peter C. Ricci	269
No Place I'd Rather Be
90. Finding Peace in the Catskills, by Snapper Petta	271
After 9/11
91. The Last Trip Is Always the Best One, by Dick Sederquist	276
Following in My Son's Footsteps
92. Ashokan High Point, by Jeff Green	278
High Point Highs
93. Windham High Peak, by Lawrence D. (Larry) David	281
This Mountain Has Everything
94. A Mountain That Does Not Quite Make It, by Friedel Schunk	283
Beauty and Solitude off the Beaten Track
95. Delaware Trails of the Catskill Mountains, by Joan Dean	284
Delights of the Western Catskills
96. Stories of a Fire Observer, by Larry and Betty Baker	286
On Balsam Lake Mountain
97. In the Mountains We Forget to Count the Hours, by Arlene Scholer	288
Sharing Good Times
98. First-Growth Forests vs. Ski Slopes, by Michael Kudish	290
The Unkindest Cut

---

PART X: CATSKILL MYSTERIES 292

99. A Catskills Quest: Hunting for the ADK Plaque, by Tom Farre	293
The Catskills Quest Competition
100. Ghosts in the Catskills? by Chris Maget	298
The Stoppel Point Plane Wreck
101. My Late Mother as a Ruffed Grouse, by Will Nixon	301
A Poem

About the Editor	304
-------------------------	------------